COURSE DESCRIPTION:

COUN 567 is a graduate level introduction to testing. It introduces the methodological foundation of psychological measurement in general while specifically reviewing a variety of testing procedures for cognitive and personality assessment. Practice principles are reviewed with an emphasis on the ethical use of tests. Some hands-on experience with tests used by counselors is provided. Concurrent enrollment in COUN 566: Appraisal of Instruments required.

ESSENTIAL PRACTICES ADDRESSED IN THIS COURSE:

- Identify, select, and use a variety of assessment instruments
- Develop effective helping and intervention skills
- Use and update research and knowledge to enhance professional practices
- Apply professional ethics (including multicultural assessment)

COURSE OBJECTIVES:

1. Introduce the methodological foundation of psychological measurement and testing.

2. Review practice principles of the assessment process and test use/interpretation in counseling.
3. Review practice issues and the ethical use of tests in counseling including multicultural assessment and assessment of individuals with disabilities
4. Acquaint the counselor with selected test taking, profiling and interpreting as it might be encountered in the school or agency setting.

DEPARTMENT POLICY STATEMENT:

The counseling profession requires a high level of personal integrity, self-awareness, and personal maturity. Demonstrating professionalism in classroom behavior, as well as being present and engaged in classroom activities, is expected at all times as a graduate student in Counselor Education.

Students are expected to attend all class meetings; however, one absence is not considered excessive. Students whose beliefs, religious practices, or lifestyles may conflict with class attendance from time to time should discuss such issues with the course instructor at the beginning of the term. If possible, arrangements should be made to make up missed attendance-related assignments and experiences. It is up to the student and instructor to negotiate a satisfactory solution with respect to absences.

Students and faculty are expected to maintain an atmosphere in which controversial issues, germane to the subject matter, can be examined and discussed. In exercising this freedom of expression, faculty and students are expected to exercise appropriate restraint and show respect for the opinion of others.

The Counselor Education Department seeks to balance providing care and support, high expectations, and opportunities for participation in meaningful activities. All students are expected to participate in constructing a respectful learning environment in the classroom. Arrive to class on time, stay for the entire class, come back from breaks on time, turn off cell phones, etc. Be mindful of what might detract from the learning experience of students and faculty alike (e.g., talking to fellow students during lecture).

All students in the Department must demonstrate behavior that is consistent with the Ethical Standards put forth in 2005 by the American Counseling Association:

<http://www.counseling.org/resources/ethics.htm>

Failure to do so can result in termination from the program.

Demonstrating effective ethical and professional conduct is extremely important and will be monitored and reviewed by the faculty throughout your time in the program in order to assess your development as a professional counselor. Formal occasions for feedback in this regard occur following First Year Student Reviews (May of each year) and during Practicum and Internship. Concerns and deficiencies will be brought to your attention and used by faculty in assessing your overall academic/ professional progress in the Department. Deficiencies which are not corrected will be cause for disciplinary action which may include termination from the Department

COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

1. Class attendance and participation (25 points): this is critical to your learning and I expect each of you to be here for each class and on time. No more than one absence, unless clearly medically necessary, is excusable without an automatic 1/2 point (e.g., A to B+) reduction in your course grade. Please plan not to miss any class sessions. If you must miss class have a classmate get any handouts and lecture notes for you. As it is difficult for me to remember the plans of many different students, do not tell me verbally you will not be in class; please have the courtesy to email or call and leave me a voice mail message of your absence for it to be excused.
2. Read and answer questions for each Workbook exercise listed above (self-guided homework; not to be turned in). This will greatly enhance your understanding of assessment concepts. Study groups are strongly encouraged for these exercises!
3. Complete and read self-interpretation guides for MBTI and FIRO-B scales.
4. Midterm and Final exams.

GRADING:

Class attendance	25
Midterm exam	40
Final exam	55

120 points (Note: final grades based on class curve)

Note: No incompletes (I) unless clearly medically necessary. You must complete this course to enter Practicum Clinic (COUN 509: Practicum).
